

Hospital Nightmare!

Being covered by hissing-rubber mask
With permeating gas,
Flashing scalpels speak in
Lines of searing skin,
Orange-rubber gloves descending
Towards alcohol-swabbed victims,
Babies crying horridly
Through footstep-intruded nights,
Aseptic smells and
Sterile sights,
And white, oh so white
Walls, floors, ceilings
Even the beings are white
All under white light,
And the whites of eyes as wide as
Pools of blood growing on the White-tiled floor.

2-17-77