

the boy on the end of the bed shook his little head in shock at what he said having never been a lover he yet knew that it was over and crawled beneath his covers but the insight that he had kept him not from being mad at learning of the divorce of mom and dad

8-14-80